About our Prints

We take great pride in delivering the best possible representations of our images. This begins with a high-quality scan or original digital file. We fine-tune the image using Adobe Photoshop so that it accurately reflects the colors and contrast range of the actual scene we witnessed. Once we are satisfied with the image, we print it using Epson Ultrachrome pigment inks on Ilford Galerie Gold Fibre Silk paper, a professional paper whose incredible tonal range, weight, and "feel" very closely resemble the classic fiber-based photographic papers of years past. All prints are mounted on archival foam core board and are single-matted with acid-free white matboard. We carefully inspect each print and sign it only when we would proudly hang it on our own wall.

Print Sizes

The print sizes above are approximate; many prints will have proportions that do not exactly match these sizes. Mat sizes shown are outside dimensions. Different mat sizes are available upon request for a nominal charge. Some nonstandard print / mat sizes are not listed above. Greeting cards are produced on 5x7-inch cardstock and come with matching envelopes. Greeting cards are also available in sets of 6 for the price of 5 individual cards.

Black & White Prints

Until recently, we produced our black and white prints the old-fashioned way, by hand in a wet darkroom on Ilford Multigrade Fiber paper. With the advent of Epson Ultrachrome pigments and Ilford Gold Fibre Silk paper, however, we feel the digital process is now capable of delivering quality equal to that of a traditional black & white print. Upon request, we can produce your black & white prints by hand in a traditional wet darkroom with Ilford Multigrade Fiber photo paper. (This is only possible for images that were captured with black & white film, obviously - please contact us to discuss.) Because it is such a labor-intensive process, the pricing for "wet darkroom" black and white prints is twice that of our regular prints.
